The Dignity of Labor

an Influential Thinker.

Published by The Citizens' Alliance of Saginaw.

We present herewith the following extracts from a sermon preached in Brooklyn on Sunday, September 3rd, 1905, by the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Mitchell, a a union service of seven "The Dignity of Labor-"

I boldly aver that we cannot attain to that industrial peace so essential to industrial health until at least ten principles are universally recognized and acted mon!

"The first principle is this: I must be universally established that in this free country every man has the right to work for whom and for what wages projection and benefit; and such labor he pleases. Compulsory membership ers should not be discriminated against in a trades union in order to secure employment is un-American and should not be tolerated. When I say that always I holdly insist that the labor every man has a right to work for union has a distinc right to exist. It whom he pleases and for what wags he pleases. I must, of course, be understood as implying that it takes two to make a bargain, and if a man wishes my services and I am willing to work for him and we are such good. GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Sits Greatness Ras Been Recognise and Landed Everywhere. The human trait of hero worship he to his consummate generalship. Yet the homage paid to his greatness in these days is of the head rather than of the heart.

Excessive idealisation has eliminated the warm human heart from our idea of him and has left in place of the real Washington a sort of alabaster image or only a steel engraving. This is a wrong both to him and to curselves, but it seems to have been inevitable in view of the undeniable greatness and nobility of his character. His chief fault, so to speak, was in being too perfect. He was so high above the ordinary man that here worship was bossel to strip away all the natural knows traits and leave nothing but a sort of densignd exaled on a pedestal to be weekinged from afar off. In recent years this unfortunate process has had its natural reaction, and the plous had its natural reaction, and the plous rhapsodies of Weens have been partly re-placed by biographies which allow the lanely hero at least a few human limits. tions and peccalilles. It is even said that he hurled strong language at Lee in the battle of Monsouth, but men are atill writing books to disprove this evidence that he could lapse into justifiable human passion. For the present, then, we must be content with a more or less defect Washington we must be content defied Washington.

If any man was ever justly idealized that man was George Washington. But for him the country could not have won its independence, but for him it could not its independence, but for him it could not have formed its smion, and but for him it could not have set its new government into motion. He alone could him North and South together. He embodied the qualities and virtues which won the admiration of the numbers New England colonists as well as of the aristicatic Virginians. He had the practical knowledge and the very his new leading the terms of the conditions of the set of the conditions of the set virginism. It is and far practical knowl-edge and the zare balance of judgment which could cope with every emergency and cender justice in every dispute. He could be sequent with the Virginism and devent with the Puritans, and could command the respect and devotion of all who came within reach of his unactiful who came within reach of his unnerfish and functioning character. Modust, gen-ecom, just, forestal, fearlms, of absolute futgrity, decibiling all may for his price-less particule services, what wonder that his soldiers offered to crown him king, or that, after his pained and angry re-fusal, the mation much him not only its L'Evaldent but its command here forever? Printident but its consumed here forever?

Beyond death the grantest of Washlington's many services was rendered as a soldier. John Adams and Congrum mid the cologists were free, and there left the matter. Washington and his soldiers made the Dechanzian of Independence a fact, instead of a more constitue, it was a comparatively must hady of herem that gressented freedom and nationality to the thirteen column. No man of modern times has suffered from idealization so much as Washington. We all acknowledge that he was the greatest of Americans, that his patriotism was of the purest and his character of the noblest, and that we absolutely owe our national independence his consummate expensible. Yet the and human enough then. Since that time n loy model has somewhat dehumanized. Washington, it has emobled the ideals and lives of the men of the nation. some fine pictures.
In the battle of Trenton, Washington, long on the defensive, changed his policy and attacked without the slightest warn-ing. He had only 6,000 men, against 25,000. He planned an attack with five divisions, those of Gates, Ewing, Griffen and his own, co-operating with that of Putnam from Philadelphia. He threw his own 2,400 men across the Delaware by night, marched them nine miles through blinding snow storm and attacked at dawn. Only Griffen's division gave him any help, but so well had the plan been laid and executed that his victory was complete, and he went back across the river with 1,000 prisoners.

To punish this audacity Cornwallis was sent out from New York with 7,000 men. Stationing three regiments at Princeton, he advanced on Washington's position, the American army being posted in line of battle across Assunpink river. Arriving before them at night-fall, Cornwallis deferred the attack till morning, and this was enough for Wash-ington, who was remarkable in that he instantly detected and always took advantage of an enemy's mistake.

Leaving his camp fires brightly burning and heaped with fuel, Washington marched to Princeton by a circuitous route and, as at Trenton, attacked at dawn, winning one of the most signal and decisive victories of the war. The British lost over 500 in killed, wounded and prisoners, and the confidence of the country in Washington and in the war was once more fully restored. These two movements were declared by Frederick the Great to be the most dar-ing and brilliant military exploits of the entury.

Woman Who Left Husband, Taking $1,700, Writes from Ireland.

Ills farm and money gone and his wife in the power of a hypnolist are the chief factors in George Blowers story of business trials and domestic tribulation. Last fall Blowers, with several others in Charlette caught the Oklahoma fever, and started for the southwest. Blowers sold started for the southwest. Blowers sold his farming equipment, but before the sale of the farm had been equipmented, he, accompanied by his wife, left for Guymon. At her suggestion Mrs. Blowers returned to Charlotte with authority to close the deal and receive the $1,700, which was paid her in cash. In the early part of November Mrs. Blowers started took to Charlotte. She left the train back to Oklahoma. She left the train at Kansas City and has not been seen since. Blowers waited several days, and finally became suspicious. About a month ago he received a letter from her postmarked Cork, Ireland, in which she says she is under the power of a man who hyp-notized her while riding on a train through Missouri. The woman writes that she tried to evade the man, who oc-cupled a section opposite her, but she could not resist him. In closing she tells Blowers she still loves him and asks for money to buy a ticket home. Blowers says the man in the deal is a former traveling salesman for the McCornick Harvesting Company and that he occupled a seat at the same table with him pied a seat at the same table with him and his wife at a Guymon boarding house, and in this way learned of Mrs. Hilowers' proposed trip to Michigan to get the money from the sale of the farm.

Insurance Commissioner Barry reports Insurance Commissioner Bury Performand marine insurance companies doing business in the State have been received in his office. The statements indicate a considerable increase in the volume of business, although the premium receipts have not increased in proportion to the risks written, on account of the reduction in the fire rate. The reports disclosed that the average premium rate in Michigan for 1905 was $1.34, as against $1.43 for 1904. This reduction is attributable to the application of the system of schedule rating, and also to the reduction made by the companies in the rates on brick mercantile risks which went into effect last October. Mr. Barry expects that during this year there will be a still further reduction in fire insurance rates. that all the statements of the fire and duction in fire insurance rates.

DEVELOPMENT OF CUBA.

From an industrial standpoint the island of Cubs is of much more im portance to-day than it was in the heyday of the Spanish regime. It is true that the two great industries of island, augar and tobacco growing, have not yet recovered from the devastation wrought during the long years of the mill, and practically every plantation and railroad, was destroyed, but the impetus which the American occupa tion gave to the recultivation of the leading staples has already had marked effects, and then sugar and tobacco plantations seem more like their old selves than at any time since the close of the war. It is stated, for example that 89,000 people find employment in the tobacco fields. But from an economic standpoint this does not mean so much as does the fact that an intelligent effort is being made in the direc tion of diversified farming, whereby the island will not be so dependent upon its two principal products as has been the case in the past.

Why such an effort was not made during the long period of European occupation it is somewhat difficult to In the west end of the Island are to be found all the conditions regulate to the successful cultivation on a large scale of tropical fruits as well as fruits anges, pincapples, grapes and bananas might be made leading staples. Of course one thing that formerly milltated against any extensive enterprise was the lack of transportation facili ties, a condition which is being revolu-tionized, thanks chiefly to American and English initiative. The opening of the trunk railroad traversing the back bone of the island from east to west suits from the industrial standpoint, and if the scheme of Sir William Van Horne and his associates looking to the upbuilding of a great system of small land holdings is carried to its logical conclusion it will of itself tend to inaugurate an era of prosperity hitherto unknown by the Cubans. The building of branch railroads is proceeding apace, thus offering still great er inducements to those who would venture upon agricultural experiments

LESSON FOR PERSUANT 25.

Jesus' Power to Forgive.-Mark 2: Golden Text .- The Son of man bath on earth to forgive sins .-- Mark

All the miracles of Jesus were intended All the infracles of Jesus were intended to speak of His love and to justify His claim to be the supreme manifestation of God. But many of them were performed and allowed to speak for themselves, while to others the moral was explicitly attached. The one before us is a case of the latter sort.

The purpose of the life and death of Challet was a considered to the control of the life and death of of the Christ was to awaken in men a consciousness of their utter failure to attain to the true goal of life and a longing after the true goal of life and a longing after better things, and to make it possible for them to rise by removing from their con-sciences the crushing burden of gnilt. Ho took that burden upon Himself that we might be able to look up into our Father's face without feeling shut out from His love and favor by the dark cloud of sin.

We are all sinners; but as there are on paratively few regenerate hearts, so there are few who really feel the burden of their sins. Or rather, though shaweighs heavily on all, it is only the few who know that the smight of core of who know that the weight of care, of who know that the weight of care, of discontent, of distress, of hopelessness, that rests upon them is indeed the lead of sin which they are carrying.

We are all sinners, and we recognize the fact in proportion to our humility before God, and our endeavor, to serve Him. It takes a "really truly" saint to be able to say, honestly, as Paul did, "Christ Jesus caine into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief." ers; of whom I am chief?"

As long as we are content to compare ourselves with other men, and many of us are content so to do, we learn nothing of our real sinfulness. We learn rather to be pleased with ourselves and to thank God that we are not as bad as many are. We must learn, therefore, that those who nensure themselves by themselves and compare themselves among themselves are

God cannot forgive those who acknowledge no need of forgiveness, who cannot see themselves to be sinners; but His willingness to forgive the sinner who move himself a sinner and craves forriveness is unbounded. As Jesus said on mother occasion, those who are "whole" or healthy have no need of a doctor, and the implication was that those who be leved themselves whole would not recog-nize any need of one. Such people He could not save unless they should come recognize their need and accept Him their Saviour. God's power to forgive us is limited only by our own willingness to see that we are sinners needing forgiveness and our willingness to accept that forgiveness in the way in which He has offered it.

In the Home.—This was very likely the home of Peter or of one of the other disciples. Engerness to Hear .- The "common."

unsophisticated people know at one whether a teacher has spiritual food for them. They are very quick to recognize the difference between an essayist or maker of fine phrases and one who an-nounces vital truths, truths that are nounces vital truths, truths that are needed in everyday life to help them to meet real exigencies. A preacher of the latter type will always win a hearing from those who are hungering for the Bread of Life, albeit unconsciously hungering for Him.

brought to Jesus could not walk, perhaps could not even lift a hand to help lim-self. It is one of the most incurable maladies. But nothing danned the faithof these people who had seen with their own eyes, no doubt, many wonderful miracles, or at least, had heard from crowds; of witnesses of the works of Jesus. We should to-day remember these crowds; the work Jesus did was done in the open day before multitudes, and that fact attests the genuineness of His mira-

"Uncovered the Roof."-The country being a dry one roofs were made in a very primitive fashion with clay on a foundation of sticks and brush.

"Thy Sins Are Forgice."—This say-ing would at once call the attention of the paralytic to his sins and his need of forgiveness. It would, perhaps, startle him out of a long moral sleep. He had been thinking, no doubt, chiefly of his bodily ill, whereas with him, as with us all before we are made over in Christ. the chief ill to be considered is the sad-state of our souls. Of course we must take for granted that Jesus saw into this man's heart and knew that His words orgiven the sins of a man who could not be brought to see his sinfulness.

Correct Reasoning.—The scribes were quite right in concluding that no one but God had a right to forgive sin. For sin is wrong done to God. And it was as is wrong done to God. And it was as God's Son, speaking with the authority of God, that Jesus declared this man's sins forgiven. Otherwise it would have been as the scribes said, a blasphemy.

"Perceiving in His Spirit."—We read in John 2:24, 25, "He knew all men, and needed not that any should testify of man; for he knew what was in man." And you no doubt can think up a number of weats that restified to that payer. per of events that testified to that power t insight. It is implied, for instance, His declaring the paralytic forgiven. "In regard to the situation at present we have cause to be thankful, but no cause to be satisfied. The greatest danger at present to be faced is that the people exhausted as they are, may relux their efforts. Last October it seemed that the popular cause was trreslatible.

"They forced the autocracy to abdicate and to issue a manifesto limiting its own power. They gained undue confidence and imagined that they could at any moment exact further concessions. But since that time, though there have been two general strikes and numberless armed breaks, we have obtained no further privileges. ON A PARROT RANCH.

he Only One in the World and It Man Burbehod Its Owner. Martin Holts, au American, who es ablished a parrot runch near Victoria Mexico, a few years ago, has met with wonderful success and has accumi lated a fortune in the business. It is probably the only parrot ranch in the world: it is certainly the only one in Mexico, says the San Francisco Call.

Holts was employed for several years as a passenger conductor on the old Monterey and Mexico Guif Rallroad, now a part of the Mexican Central system. His division was hetween Victoria and the port of Tamplee, on the gulf coast, through the heart of the parrot country. He was always interested in the bright-colored birds, and while running as conductor collected many of them and taught them to speak English. There were many tourists traveling up and down his line and he did a good side business by selling the birds to Americaus and others.

The thought then occurred to Holts that he might make more money by retiring from railroad work and de voting his time to raising parrots. He followed the plan and purchased a large tract of land near Victoria which was teeming with parrots.

He fitted up the ranch in an unique way. Wire netting was placed around and all over the trees and the birds were confined therein. He has had greatest success in raising the birds.

It is in teaching the parrots to talk that Holts has made a unique success. He is a linguist speaking English, Spanish, French and German fluently. He divided his flock of several thousand birds into four classes for each language. He then took a few birds from each class and set to work to teach them to talk. At the end of a few wonths Holts had taught a number of birds English, Spanish, German and French, and the educated birds would teach their companions to talk. His hopes were realized to the fullest extent. He says that at the end of the first year he had several hundred educated parrots.

Holts believes that the standard of intelligence of parrots can be greatly increased by proper attention to breeding them. In his collection of parrots which now numbers several thousands he saw several which are comingly possessed of reasoning powers. These educated birds have been tought to carry on a conversation with each other. This conversation, in which each bird knows his part thoroughly, covers nearly thirty minutes of time.

Eruptions Appeared on Chest, and Pace and Neck Were All Broken Out-Cured by Cuticura.

"I had an eruption appear on my chest and body and extend upwards and downwards, so that my neck and were all broken out; also my arms and the lower limbs as far as the knees. I at first thought it was prickly heat. But soon scales or crusts formed where the breaking out was Instead of going to a physician, I purchased a complete treatment of the Cuticura Remedies, in which I had great faith, and all was satisfactory. A year or two later the eruption appeared again, only a little lower; but before it had time to spread I procured another supply of the Cuticura Remedies, and continued their use until the cure was complete. It is now five years since the last attack, and have not seen any signs of a return I have more fulth in Cuticura Remedies for skin diseases than anything I know of. Emma E. One of the most joyful, yet sorrow ful events occurred Friday night. Sunday and Monday when four of our noblest and best young men, Arthur inches thick and clear as crystal. Metcalf, Charles Marvin, Lee Trumley and Wm. Taylor were preparing to leave Grayling, and when they started for the State of Washington.

Friday evening Mr. M. A. Bates and his good generous wife very kindly opened their doors and invited all the members of the M. E. Church and their families to a farewell reception. Eighty-nine responded. Refreshments of coffee and wafers, ice cream and cake were served, and after singing very effectively by the choir, "God be with you till we meet again", and prayer by Pastor Thompson. All returned to their homes at a respectable hour prenouncing it an evening long to be remembered. Sunday morning at 10:30, Bro. A. Metcalf preached to nearly a full house a very soul stirring, inspiring, and helpful sermon from Math. 9:36 "But when he saw the multitude he was moved with compassion on them," which was much enjoyed by everybody. At 7:30 p. m. came the farewell service. The Presbyterians very kindly dispensing with their service and uniting, Pastor and people (which showed indeed a genuine Christian Spirit) caused the church to be packed to the door. The Singing by the choir and the congre gation was fine and the solo by Mr Fred Alexander was finely rendered and touching and the fervent praver by Bro. A. Metcalf certainly took hold on God. Then came the well fitting and well chosen remarks by Bro. M.

tor Thompson gave (briefly) an account of leaving his home, his con Lord, and gave encouragement to knowing that Christ has said "Lo I am with you always, even to the end." The departing brethern were then called to the front while all sang Will never say good bye in heaven." Then while, "When the roll is called up yonder," was being sung, all the congregation marched round the church and shook hands with the four sho were to leave at 1:40 p. m. the following day, which was indeed a very inpressive part of the service After the benediction and some of the people had gone a man came harrying down the aisle, took Pastor Thompson under deep conviction, pray for me." Crawford County Grange.

Whereas, a bill has been introduced in the Congress of the United States proposing to transfer to the Michigan State Forestry Commission 8,847 acres of public lauds in Crawford County, tle brought up from Michelson's Michigan, for forestry purposes, said ranche last week for use in his Mar- lands being located in township 21

W. and township 25 N. of 4 W., now: Therefore be it resolved by Craw ford County Grange No. 934 that it most earnestly protest against the passage of said bill, for the following

First, Because the State Forestry Commission already has over 6,000 acres of lands in the county, an ample area for carrying out the purpose for which said commission was created.

Second. Because it has been ur able to so police the lands now in its possession in this and adjoining counties as to prevent forest fires which have frequently occured on its lands, and because such unsuccessful policing would involve so large an expenditure as to make wholly unprofita ble and impracticable their reforesta

Third. Because the larger part said lands are of a character wel adapted to cultivation and as capable of producing abundant crops of fruits, grains, grasses and vegetables as has been and is being amply demones trated by the fact of adjoining, and of the same class of lands throughout the county being now actually under successful cultivation.

Fourth. Because we beleive said lands should not be diverted from the original purpose of homestead entry thereby depriving our county of a large number of settlers who by makng homes on these lands would add to our taxable value and divide the burden of taxation and enable us to build roads and schools.

Fifth. Because, while in the past for various reasons these lands have been considered of little value it has been thoroughly demonstrated that lightest so called "Jack pine plains" soils are capable of producing profitable crops of clover seed and other crops, and that this fact has given them a real and substantial value as agricultural lands.

Sixth. Because the fact of the State Foresty Commission asking that these lands be turned over to it for speculative reforestation purposes casts a stigma upon our county, pronouncing it agriculturaly worthless, as promises that it will not pay to at fit for agricultural purpose

Seventh. Because while we be preservation and growth of forest trees, we believe with the report of the committee of forestry of the Michigan State Grange that the present policy of the Michigan State Forestry Commission in attemping to secure large bodies of agricultural lands in our northern counties for reforestation purposes is ill advised and not in the best interests of the people

Eighth. Because from the recent almost imprecedented horticultural and agricultural growth and development of this and adjoining counties and the large increased demand for lands by actual homeseckers and the land it will be but the matter of a very Petersen's Beagle dog that we add the month of January was one of the short time when these lands will be vertised last week, came home the warmest on record, the temperature, actually taken by actual settlers who upon them. GIRL PUTS ARM IN FIRE AS AN

ATONEMENT.

Mer Dress Becomes Ignited as Sh Is Making Explation for Accidental Injury to Child-Captals Taugart Given Custody of Sons.

Rose H. Elmer, aged 17, an inmate of the Bethany home, an Episcopal orphan-age in Glendale, near Cincinnati, died from burns received while cauterizing her arm in a self-imposed penance, during which she accidentally set fire to her clothing. The coroner is investigating the case. The girl desired to become a nurse. Lillian Fears, a 3-year-old inmate of the home, was suffering from a small cut on the arm, and Miss Elmer attempted to the arm, and Miss Elmer attempted to readjust the bandages. In doing so she knocked over a kettle of boiling water that scalded the child's arm bailty. Remores for the accident caused Miss Eimer much suffering. It is believed that she gained the idea she could atone for the accident by burning herself on the arm. She was seen by other children holding her bare arm over a grate fire so that the flames touched the bare firsh. She had been sobbling and bemoaning the necident to the child a moment before. Before any one could interfere her clothing caught fire and she was soon enveloped in flames. She never railied from the shock.

Property Worth $1,000,000.

The weeden working house of the Duluth Grain elevator plant of F. H. Peavey & Co. of Minneapolis was burned to the ground with its contents, consisting of about 1,000,000 bushels of grain, principally wheat. The loss on the grain and house is estimated at $1,000,000 and is fully covered by insurance. The elevator was known as the "PV" and it is the receiving and shipping house for the great Peavey concern's storage house, with a capacity of 4,000,000 bushels. The origin of the fire is unknown. Fortunately there was no wind blowing toward other improved districts on the harbor front or the loss would have been tremendous. The fire department had much difficulty in getting streams on the fire, as ther were no hydrants within half a mile and it was necessary to cut holes in the icc six feet thick in the slips to get water.

REED BMOOT. of the Latter-Day Saints before all else, even his country.

These statements were made before Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections at a hearing of the case of Senator Reed Smoot of Utab, by Prof. Walter II. Wolfe, former teacher of geology in Brigham Young College nt Logan, Utah, and apostate of the Mormon church. The hearing was the first of this session of the Smoot case, which was drugged along through the two previous sessions. It is probable carings in the case will be held intermittently throughout the present ses sion. The investigation of Prof. Wolfe occupied the hearing. John G. Carlisle of New York conducted the prosecu tion, and A. S. Worthington of Wash ington appeared for Senator Smoot.

Prof. Wolfe testified that he had been a Mormon until Jan. 1, this year, when his connection was severed through failure to comply with the de mands for tithes. "Twelve times." answered Prof. Wolfe when asked be many times he had been through the endowment temple.

"Did you take any obligations of onths when you went through?" asked Mr. Carlisle.

"Every time," he repiled. Only one time had he taken the oath for him-self, however, he said, the other oaths having been for dead persons. Asked to detail them, he said there had been obligations of chastity, sacrifice and vengeance.

"What do you mean by vengeance?" asked Mr Carlisle, "Do you mean there was a promise or pledge given to wenge something?"

The witness then sold that this oath had been tuken

"You and each of you do covenant and pray, and never couse to pray, God to avenge the blood of the prophet on this nation."

The oath, he said, was taken standing, and at the conclusion each one taking it was required to bow the head and say: "I do."

Prof. Wolfe said that in southern Utah and New Mexico polygumy is practiced with some freedom.

Prof. Wolfe said he believed the "seed of treason" was sown in the oath of engeance. In answer to questions by Chairman Burrows he described the nterior of the temple. Among the ple tures was one of Senator Smoot.

An effort was made by Mr. Worthington to produce an unqualified an swer as to whether there was anything in the endowment temple ceremons which would interfere with anyon taking it in serving in the United States Senate, and whether such person's duties to the church and country would conflict. The witness declared that every Mormon's first ducy is to the Church of the Latter Day Saints. With reference to the list of mem bers of the Utah Constitutional Convention, members of the Legislature and State officers accused of being polygamists. Mr. Worthington said it might be necessary to call from 100 to 200 witnesses to disprove the testimony of the prosecution, unless the commit tee permitted the filing of affidavits.

The last witness for those opposing Smoot was C. A. Smurthwalt, of Ogden Utah. After explaining the tithing sys tem of the Mormon church Mr. Smurthwaite was asked if the tithes were invested in corporations. "I am fearful they are," he replied. He estimated that tithing brought the church a rev enue of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 n lear, but no accounting had been made so far as he knew.

MAY BE COMPROMISE

MIDDLE GROUND LIKELY IN MOROCCAN CONFERENCE.

France and Germany May Not Agree un Vital Questions-Hitch Ove Pelice for the Sultan-Grave Situatlen Has Confronted Delegates.

The Algerian conference on Moroccan affairs has now been freed of mos of the minor questions before it, and finds itself fast approaching the graver

situation which heretofore caused the serious strain in the relations be ween France and Germany. This is sue, a press dispatch says, hiuges on who shall control the affairs of Moroc co, as it uppears to be recognized that whoever controls this semi-military organization will control Morocco itself The delegates to the conference have shown increusing anxiety at the approach of this issue, knowing the in tense feeling it has aroused between France and Germany and according ly the representatives of the disinter ested powers are redoubling their of forts to secure an accord before the question reaches the open conference and thereby avert a deadlock. Various plans are being discussed. The ambassadors say they are hopeful that a middle ground will be found that will be acceptable to both countries; but they admit the extreme difficulty of finding such a ground owing to the firmness both France and Germany thus for have made against making concessions which each country feels will involve the fate of Morocco. On the one hand France wants control of the semi-military force, and on the other hand Germany objects to such control on the ground that it would make France the virtual master of Morocco's political future. These posttions are so radically opposed as to appear almost irreconcilable, yet the neu tral delegates are continuing their pa cific offices toward finding a commor ground acceptable to both countries.

Some Compromise Plans. The ambassadors strongly oppose the disclosure of the various tentative plans for a compromise, saying that publicity tends to excite the opposition of one side or the other and wreck the best efforts of diplomacy. However, some of the compromise projects are on the following general lines:

The first is to leave the police to the Sultan of Morocco, thus avaiding Germany's objection to French contro and that of France to international control.

This compromise is distasteful to France, but the neutral delegates are seeking to reconcile French opposition to it, by pointing out that the Sultan would have to rely upon France to officer, instruct, and discipline the po-

Another compromise vaguely but forward is to give Spain or some other of the powers a share with France in the organization of the police. This again meets with the opposition to having France participate in any control of the police.

Still another compromise, apparently having the approval of Germany, is o institute an international police for a limited and experimental period. and if the experiment fails, France will then be in a position to assume the organization of the police. France, however, shows no disposition to accept the plan for an international police system, even for an experimental nerlod.

These and other plans will have to undergo constant revision owing to the prosition of the various elements. Nothing as yet has been reduced to writing, as neither Germany nor France is prepared to definitely dislose just how far they are willing to go in the way of concessions, Lower temperature stimulated a better disposition of heavy winter clothing, making retail stocks less burdensome. Other lending retail departments report sales comparing favorably with those of a year ago, the buying being much helped by large numbers of visitors at this time. Country merchants made liberal selections in the wholesale lines, and bookings for early delivery have grown in the aggregate for dry goods staples, and there is some improvement in clothing, woolens and furniture.

The general outlook for suring trade maintains encouraging features, and this gives strength to the market for textile fabrics. Money appears to be in ample circulation in the agricultural sections, crop reports are good and collections reasonably mercantile prompt.

Commodity movements, as indicated by earnings of Chicago railroads, show no diminution in the tonnage volume. all classes of freight contributing. Railroad earning returns indicate that January was the most active month ever experienced by the companies, gross receipts showing a gain of 20 per cent over last year. Reports as to winter wheat are satisfactory as a whole. Against these favorable features are to be cited the disquieting influences of predictions and preparations for a general coal strike, possibly involving 500,000 men. It is also to be noted that the mild weather has caused an accumulation of retail stocks of heavy clothing, shoes and kindred products and eliminated reorder business from jobbing hands, though western reports speak of possible carried-over stocks being quite well reduced, considering weather conditions.

There are two kinds of profitable farming. One is to grow and sell profitable crops and by so doing impoverish the soil, and the other is to equalty as good crops and conduct the operations so as to keep the fortility of the soil up.

Hogs are 25 to 35 cents a hundred higher than a year ago, and don't seem likely to be much if any lower. As things look now, pork will be made at less cost this year than last; on the whole, the hog business shouldn't give growers the blues.

Washington correspondence:
No bride of recent years—and possi bly none of any time-has been looked upon with such an amount of interes and been the object of so much mingled curiosity and admiration as the one who Saturday stood in the East room of the White House and linked her future with that of Nicholas Longworth.

WED IN WHITE HOUSE

LONGWORTH AND MISS ROOSEVELT MARRIED.

No other American has been the ro ciplent of such world-wide favors as Alice Roosevelt. The stream of gifts, rich in their intriusic value and richer n their symbolism of the world's good will to us, has flown steadily for sev eral weeks. The mysterious treasure boxes of ancient China and Japan; the ewels of the Orient and the art and skill of the Occident have been grawn upon in larger measure than ever be fore for a single bride to demonstrate that the nations of the earth take pleas ure in honoring the daughter of the man who has done so much to advance the cause of peace and has aided so materially in bringing his own country to a position of world-recognized great-ness. For the gifts which have been sent to Miss Roosevelt are not only a compliment to this young woman of striking personality, but are licewise a tribute of respect to her father and the nation whose head he is.

On the other hand, it is a mistake to assume that it is only because she is her father's daughter that Miss Roose velt is thus remembered. She shine not alone by reflected light, for her own individuality has that magnetism which wins admiration, both socially and nondurly. The public has seen enough of Miss Alice to like her and the prescrits of silver and gold, of jewels and laces and other costly things which dazzled the guests at the White House are but trifling in comparison with that wealth of love and good will which goes out to her from the American people and which made her bridal altar not only the center of interest, but of solicitude as well.

Transfer of Copper Mines Made

The seven years' war of the copper magnates in Montana, which has filled the courts with lawstits in which $400,000,000 was involved, and which has been one of the greatest fnancial struggles on record, came to an end Toesday. The treaty of peace between F. Augustus Heinze, the spectacular, and Amalgamat-ed was the direct result of the deals which have resulted in the formation of a giant copper and lead trust.

The first public act in this connection was the filing at Butte, Mont., of papers by which all the mining ground held by Heinze, or the United Copper Company, the ownership of which is in dispute, was transferred to Thomas F. Cole as trustee The transfer also includes the smelter of the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, a Heinze corporation.

As to terms the United Copper Company receives $25,000,000, part cash and part stock, of the new company. The proportion of cash is placed at $15,000, 000 to $20,000,000. Under the new arrangement the United Copper output, which has been 40,000,000 pounds of refined copper a year, will be reduced to 12,000,000 pounds.

12,000,000 or 15,000,000 pounds.

The new company, starting with a profluction of 25,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds, will increase that to some 75,000,000 pounds by opening up properties which have been closed by injunction.

200 in One Day. Fifteen thousand persons tried to gain idmittance to the afternoon and evening Forrey-Alexander revival meetings in the Philadelphia armory Tuesday. More than 200 converts were recorded as the result of the day's work. The meeting in the afternoon was for women only and that at night for men only. They were declar-ed to be the largest separate congregations of men and women that ever gathered for religious services in Philadelphia. In the rush to get into the armory one woman fell and fractured her nose.

The whole city is in the threes of the revival movement. It is the chief topic of conversation in the street cars, in stores and at the dinner table. Even political issues are being lost sight of in the religious enthusiasm. Striking effects of the revival campaign are being felt. The policemen of the three districts in the neighborhood of the armory declare that they have had little or nothing to do since the revival began. One day last week when the magistrates appeared for the hearings in these districts not a single prisoner was arraigned.

Startling Trade Figures. The final trade statistics for the year 1905 confirm the figures of the prelimi nary forecasts and show a phenomenal degree of prosperity throughout the coun-try. So enormous was the product of farm, mine and factory that, had it been moved at one time, it would have filled 33.184.857 freight cars, 4.000,000 more than would have been required in the prosperous year of 1904. Thirty-three million freight cars, if made up into one train of fabulous length, would extend for a distance of 224,400 miles, or would girdle the earth about nine times at the equator. If this mythical train, with the $25,000 locomotives which would be re-quired to haul it, had traveled out into space on a trip to the moon, the leading moguls would have been pulling through the valleys of the earth's satellite before the conductor's buggy had rumbled out of the freight yards at the starting point. No one who has watched the development of the automobile can denv that the greatest opponent of the new fangled machine has been the American farmer. The noisy, puffing cars have scared his horses and made the but the indications are now that this attitude will soon be entirely changed.

The fact is that the farmer is taking to the automobile as he took to the telephone, and the wealthier among them at least to the small farm electric light plant. There is no class of Americans that is quicker to take to I will bury it." any real labor-saving device than the even more than that, the trouble of finding the man and keeping him when found, will be warmly wel-

The farmer has discovered that the automobile is a labor saver. The reason that he was so slow in doing so was that the automobile until recently was not built for his requirements. It was essentially a pleasure vehicle, more attention being paid to speed and fine finish than to simplicity and durability. The development of the working automobile in the cities has given the farmer the hint he was waiting for, and the power machine has begun to displace the horses in some of their duties on the farms,

There are two classes of machines especially suited to the farmer's use about type, which can be used by the be transported outckly to the nearest market. This type of wagon can be used, too, for the daily errands to the village, and to much more advantage than the horse. It makes befor time and keeps the driver a shorter time away from the field, and it does not withdraw the horse from the field work. Then there is the large, pow erful vehicle of the auto truck type which is suitable for moving beavier loads over the country roads. With a vehicle of this kind the farmer who is remote from a railroad is one who has the railroad at his door.

The general pros-"Of the men who offer themselves perity being enjoyed has reduced this evil to a minimum, but it is an ever-present menace and the problem of together even in osculation. Famous successfully handling it is one that calls for serious consideration.

The English plan contemplates take ing those living from hand to mouth and placing them on land now absolute waste, where they will be pe mitted to congregate and thus retain portion of the attractions furnished by the city while removed from its debasing inducaces. Opportunity will be afforded all to earn a livelihood, and the aim is to make the country so atractive there will be no inclination to return to their former haunts. The proposal is worthy of Indorsement, but the extent to which success will crown the efforts put forth is yet to be determined. The trend of population is example of which we have in the retoward the large cities. Urban life and cent case where a justice condenned excitement compensate for the suffer, a man to kiss his own wife. Had anng and often actual privation which follows such a move. The man accustomed to the stimulating effects of mingling with the throng feels a sense or depression and solitude amid other surroundings which it is difficult to vercome. Removing all the idle and unemployed from any American enty would result in a brief time in their places being taken by others lured on by prospects which often fall to materialize.

Much good can be accomplished in the manner proposed. A certain pr portion of the submerged populace will grasp the opportunities offered and ift themselves to higher levels, even though the majority drift back to the old ways. England finds herself confronted by a problem which demand minediate attention. The United States has not yet reached the point where such action has become imperative, although the constant influx of aliens is hastening the day when, it must be grappled with. For this reasun the degree of success nehieved by England will be noted with interest s indicating the possibilities and the limitation in that direction.

There's the formal kiss of fashion limited to women; the curious kiss of custom, which varies in different lands; the Blarney variety, which as its name; the kiss of a Hobson, as a reward of genius or valor; the kiss of respect, usually given to the aged; the dancing kiss, which is one of the most leach cheek. popular figures with the country devotees of ternsichore; and the kiss Platonic, which is very different from but often leads up to the kiss passionate.
